God—only a myth raised by crafty priests and cunning clergies to more effectively control their flocks, and even if it exists, I defy him and all his angels to say you know.

They told the serpent uttered this wicked blasphemous boast, his hand clutching praying girl, uplifted to its utmost reach ready for its fatal descent.

At the instant when the dark storm-

clouds burst asunder in one blinding down-pouring of rain, for one instant

the radiant light of heaven shone down on the dark and cruel, up, up, higher than eye could look before. Then came a terrific crash of thunder, so near and dark so appalling, that for an instant the light seemed to flash out.

Then another mighty bolt shot out of the west, lighting all the over-arching clouds in great letters of fire on the terrifying heights. It seemed to form letters, even the words, "vengeance is mine" appeared to flash out. But they vanished so quickly it was perhaps only a flash of the excited imagination after the storm had passed. The lightning struck the forest in the grass on a sunday's day and then burst into flames and great fires with lofty flames, and great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

great fires with lofty flames, and

Red Serpent was not there. He had escaped their vengeance after all.

For as the crafty priests and cunning clergies looked at each other speechless with amazement.

light seemed to flash out.
